whose classroom is it anyway?

Teachers show off their classroom decorations

john cowan // GOVERNMENT

"I am a huge Green Bay Packers fan and thought it would be cool to have some of their decor in my classroom. #GoPackers."

alana donohue // ZOOLOGY

"Learning about animals in a textbook is one thing, but actually being able to hold and see the animals in real life is a whole new way of learning. Also, we spoil the animals by doing things like painting their nails."

megan hogue // MS STUDIES

"I just think my sign is funny and the American Revolution is my favorite time period in history. I also love sparkly things and it was $0.80 at the dollar store."

shane magee // WORLD HISTORY

"My painting reminds me of how we should embrace our inner creativity. It reminds me of how earth is art, and the people living on earth are works of art as well. It also reminds me of a season of life when I had time to create."

ON THE RIGHT TRACK

Students track their seat throughout the day

malorie loftin, 11
u.s. history / rieder / 1st block

"We have assigned seating and have to ask to move seats. I like assigned seating because I don't have to stress about finding a good seat on the first day of school. I like my seat because I am sitting toward the front, rather than the back."

caden stovall, 11
u.s. history / rieder / 2nd block

"We have assigned seats mostly because of the big state test at the end of the year. They're nothing special. If I could change my seat, I would probably move to the back of the class so I could sleep better."

erika figueroa crisostomo, 11
u.s. history / rieder / 4th block

"I like assigned seating because I am in the front and my teacher can see me. I also like sitting in the front because my teacher can help me as well as my friends."
